Lori Welburn, principal of Cloud Springs Elementary spoke about their new book vending machine and impact it can have on kids. Will not cost kids money to get a book from it but use tokens they earn at school.

83% of students there on free lunch. 61% of poor families have no childrens books in home. They have machine. Now looking for people to pay for them to get books. They have about 300 children and they want them to get 12 book per year.
