She dressed in the official outfit of birding, a pith helmet, a pair of binoculars, and a bird book. She showed us her bird book and her grandmother's bird book, so it runs in the family. She gave us a list of 30 local birds to look for this summer. She explained how we could use the online resources of the National Audubon Society to help identify birds and to submit reports of our findings to get into the national bird data base. They also give information about what kind of bird seed will attract specific birds. A question: What is the official Georgia State Bird?

The chocolate poke cake, donated and baked by Wanda Ellis, brought $62 and was won by Rosa Amerson. The Domino's pizza was won by Sondra Fortner. The birder's gift basket, provided by Dianna Wedincamp, was won by Sondra Fortner.
